

A CITIZEN'S GUIDE TO

Basic Evacuation Procedures

Courtesy of
Montana State University Extension

www.msuextension.org

IF YOU NEED TO EVACUATE...

All residents who need to evacuate will be advised by a radio announcement, television broadcast or authorized official. The information in the evacuation announcement will include:

- The areas to be evacuated (usually by street or subdivision name)
- The appropriate evacuation route
- The location of the evacuation shelter

You must register at the evacuation shelter so information concerning your whereabouts is available for local officials and relatives.

NOTE: Pets and livestock ARE NOT allowed at Red Cross evacuation shelters. For more information on pet/livestock care, refer to the instructions on the other side of this brochure.

REMEMBER:

Complete and detach the door hanger from this brochure and hang it on the front doorknob of your home when you evacuate.

For more information or additional copies of this brochure, contact:

Local Fire

For more disaster education information, visit www.montanahelp.org

For more information and other helpful publications, visit www.msuextension.org

The Montana State University Extension Service is an ADA/EO/AA/Veteran's Preference Employer and Provider of Educational Outreach.

detach here

